EuroMix

Build on our Experience

Leading the way

CPI EuroMix is the leading name in dry mortar in the UK and Ireland. Our silo system has revolutionised the market for dry mix products, delivering consistently high quality materials and excellent service. As part of Grafton Group plc, we have the backing of a successful and dynamic building materials company.

Investing for today

In just a few years, CPI has built an extensive network of dry mix manufacturing facilities. Our products meet the most demanding requirements for performance and aesthetics. We use the finest raw materials and the latest production technology, operating to the highest quality standards.

There when you need us

We offer excellent support to specifiers, whether on product specification, colour matching or selection of finishes. Our site logistics expertise contributes to improved site management, bringing real benefits – boosting quality, saving time and reducing waste. Our silos and application equipment lead to increased productivity, getting key materials directly to where they are needed.

Providing you with total solutions

We offer a complete package of dry mix products and related services, backed up by skilled technical support. We aim to meet the complex demands of specifiers and users, offering solutions for each construction phase.
